

Poppy Jaman OBE is a global voice of authority on workplace mental health. She is the CEO of the City Mental Health Alliance (CMHA), the former founding CEO of Mental Health First Aid (MHFA) England and a non-executive director on the board of Public Health England. In 2017, after briefing the Prime Minister and her cabinet on world mental health day, the Secretary of State, in Parliament, named Poppy as one of England's mental health experts. In 2018 Poppy was awarded an OBE in recognition of her services to people with mental health issues and in spring 2019, she received an Honorary Doctorate of philosophy from the University of Gloucestershire.